WE NOMINATE

Edgar Mills Gemmell, specialist in the sphere of "human communications" and for the past seven years a public relations officer with E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company, who this week was named to a newly created Princeton post—Administrative Secretary of Princeton University. The 42-year old Princetonian's appointment, effective March I, is designed to lighten the ever-pyramiding administrative load assumed by the president of a modern-day American university and in one sense is a measure of Princeton's post-war development, a span during which the University's annual operating expenses have mushroomed from $5,500,000 in 1946 to some $12,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

In turning from industry to education, and thereby reversing the process that carried him from Nassau Hall through World War II to du Pont's executive staff, Gemmell is once more accepting the toughest kind of challenge. Fifteen years ago, as Executive Secretary of the Princeton University Fund, he laid the foundations for the all-important Annual Giving Program, now rightfully described as "Princeton's Life-Line." The Gemmell-piloted project convinced the skeptics, produced $80,002.14 from 3,439 contributors. Last year Annual Giving topped the $650,000-mark, the equivalent of the entire amount for undergraduate scholarships and loans, and this year, still organized on lines first drawn by Gemmell, is seeking a goal of $1,000.000 with the enthusiastic help of more than 2,000 alumni workers.

Gemmell, a member of the Princeton Class of 1934, whose forebears on the maternal side have long been identified with New Jersey and include the great American writer, Stephen Crane, actually chanced into public relations. As a Princeton undergraduate his efforts to energize the Schools Committee, a liaison group between the University and secondary schools, caught the eye of publicist John Price Jones, who offered him a position on graduation. Gemmell served his public relations apprenticeship with top-flight New York and Baltimore firms and in 1939 was called to Princeton, an assignment that was to be terminated in early 1942 when he entered upon four years of commissioned duty with the Navy.

Upon his return to civilian life in 1946, after he had risen to the rank of lieutenant commander and had won recognition as photographic officer of the Eighth Fleet in the Mediterranean, and later aboard the carrier Boxer, Gemmell studied for a year in Yale University's Labor and Management Center and joined du Pont in 1947. He has since acted as consultant and adviser on industrial communications matters to the managements of 10 different du Pont plants, employing some 10,000 skilled workers in Northern New Jersey, New York and Connecticut and turning out a variety of products ranging from synthetic perfume bases to ceramic colors and to electric blasting caps.

For his contagious enthusiasm for the job that lies ahead; for his understanding of how education and industry can move forward together and work even more effectively for common ends; for believing that educational administrators are first of all "drawers of water and hewers of wood" for scholar-teachers and for those whom they teach; he is the Editors' nominee for

Topics of the Town

Help Needed Now. A major appeal to the Princeton community to provide donors for the Red Cross blood bank is published on pages eight and nine of this issue of TOWN TOPICS. It points out that the need for such assistance is extreme, and records four simple steps every one can take that may eventually lead to the saving of a life.

The unique blood donor program that has been in force at Princeton Hospital since 1949 provides every patient in need of it with transfusions at no charge for blood. With the expanding hospital (from 90 to 140 beds), the need is urgent for community-wide response so that this life-giving program will not fail.

Notice to Advertisers

TOWN TOPICS regrets that several display advertisements, including one on the township school board election, received after its deadline could not be accepted for this week's issue.

Non-contract advertisers are again asked to reserve space by Friday of the week preceding publication. Contract advertisers who plan a major increase in space are also asked to make such plans known, if at all possible, by the preceding Friday. Classified advertising can be inserted until Tuesday afternoon.

Adult School Popular. An increase of nearly 20% in its enrollment over 1953 has been reported by the Princeton Adult School. Total registration of 763, in contrast to 644 a year ago, is considered highly satisfactory by the committee directing its operations, particularly in view of the heavy snow that hindered the final two days of registration and the opening night.

The course in comparative religion has proved the most popular, with 173 enrolled, followed by social dancing with 110. Others with high attendance are the courses in literature, 59; bird-watching, 54; and the background of jazz, 40.

"Parents and Taxpayers." Charging that an attempt is being made to gain political control of the township board of education, residents of that municipality banded together this week under the name "Parents and Taxpayers Group for the Independent Candidates." They favor the election of Mrs. Frederick H. Nicoll and Mrs. Francis J. Darke, incumbents seeking new terms; William L. Wilson and James A. Perkins.

The declaration is made that Dr. William S. Carpenter, the board member who is seeking to "purge" Mrs. Nicoll and Mrs. Darke despite their experience and value to the community, is seeking to introduce "big city politics" here to the detriment of the municipality. The committee further states that until this move was made, "the entire board worked together harmoniously and usually with unanimity in the board's meetings."

James C. Sayen of Greenhouse Drive, speaking for the "parents and taxpayers," pointed out that the group "includes Princetonians of all political views who agree that politics as such should have no place in a school board election. For example," he said, "the independent candidates include individuals who were for consolidation and others who were against it. They insist that independence of the township school system is not the issue. The real issue is independence of the school board members."

The group feels that the slate proposed by Dr. Carpenter should be defeated "to prevent control of the board by an organized group of men who, if elected, will be a majority representing a single political faction." In contrast, it declares that the Darke-Nicoll-Wilson-Perkins slate is not a bloc and that "each will vote on the board as an individual, facing every issue according to his concept of the right and with no object except better schools, economically operated."

The "parents and taxpayers" group also commended its four candidates for the excellent balance they present. In contrast to the opposition, it pointed out, "two are women, two are men; they represent each of the township's four electoral districts. Two have valuable experience on the board and two have met tests of public responsibility which seems to us to qualify them ideally."

Bank Enters 120th Year. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company, entering its 120th year of service to the community, again has reported the highest deposits in its history. George R. Cook, president, told stockholders at Tuesday's annual meeting. They totalled $16,046,928, a record for the fifth year in a row, Mr. Cook said, and an increase of more than $1,000,000 over December, 1952.

Net earnings for the year permitted the addition of $50,000 to undivided profits, with the capital fund figure now $1,050,000. Total resources, now set at $17,129,969, also reached an all-time high, Mr. Cook revealed.

The bank's investment portfolio had a book value in excess of $9,600,000, with income received from investments yielding 2.26% after pro-rata amortization of bond premiums. Loans increased $466,000 to $3,286,215, as the bank's management sought to participate more fully in supplying the various credit needs of the community, Mr. Cook commented.

Earnings of approximately half a million dollars were the highest in the bank's 119 years, but with total expenses mounting, the net per share decreased slightly to $22.65. Stockholders received $10 per share, while the employees' profit-sharing trust was allocated $13,215.

Higher expenses cited by Mr. Cook included salary increases recommended by the board of directors and the addition of personnel to staff the branch office when the shopping center opens. The pay increases resulted in a "great reduction in turnover of personnel during 1953," the president noting that "salaries are now competitive with positions of similar experience and responsibility in the Princeton area."

He also credited the outlay for an expanded public relations program with drawing "a considerable amount of new banking and trust business." The successful Women's Finance Forum last fall was attended by more than 500 at each of four sessions.

The bank's trust division reported that commissions earned were at an all-time high, exceeding the previous maximum by nearly 10%. Property entrusted to its care had a 1953 market value above $25,000,000, Mr. Cook said.

The division's estate planning service was particularly active throughout the year, with rapidly changing economic conditions making periodic review of wills highly advisable, the president pointed out. "Wills should be reviewed and estates re-planned in the light of dollar values as they exist today," he commented.

Plans for the coming year will be highlighted by opening of the shopping center branch, whose

It's New to Us

Going, Going . . . Last time we went to a Smith College Club auction we found a suit of armor. (No knight.) This year, the splendor will come from a dozen Royal Minton Ware dinner plates, all of them perfect. For collectors of Chinoiserie, there will be a set of three picture frames made of Chinese silver with dragon carvings and a brass cigarette chest, also with dragon carvings. Ashtrays in brass and cloisonne are also from China.

As you know, the auction will be held in Miss Fine's gym this Saturday, January 30, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Some of the articles offered for sale will be new and hand-made by members of the Smith Club. We've heard about some hand-crocheted gold slippers, among other things.

Small pieces of furniture will be auctioned off, too, including a small mahogany-finish sideboard that's little enough to fit into a station wagon. Mahogany, glass-topped coffee table, mirror and fireplace tools might be on your list. Or some of the silver dishes, including a lobster salad dish, fruit bowls, platter and teapot.

Linens, baby equipment and toys, a new electric percolator, a lawn mower and a pair of opera glasses—these are only a few articles mentioned at random.

A New Face. The Wright Store at 130 Nassau has a new manager. His name is John Spicer and he comes to the Wright chain from 18 years as owner of his own hardware store. At the moment he is juggling space and inventory and trying in his spare time, to find a Princeton house for his family.

Some new things you'll find on the Wright shelves include plastic place-mats for 59c each. The designs are quite varied, but the one we liked best was done in the Chinese manner. The ground is a woven bamboo in appearance, with a few green reeds on one side of the mat and a small red bird on the other.

These mats are reversible and the other side is plain. Some are plain on both sides. One design is a pastel plaid — dusty rose, or green and so on. You wipe these mats clean with a damp cloth and you will find that they lie absolutely flat. In fact, they are guaranteed to do so.

Rubber Maid has some new products for kitchen use. Two styles of sink mats: one solid with small holes, the other wide open with rubber bars, like an oven rack. The stove mat is designed with a solid rubber "tray" along the front to hold your cooking spoons. Actually, it's just a slight indentation, but it's deep ennugh to keep your spoons from rolling off.

Circulating electric heaters are cheaper than Florida. Look at the ones here at Wright's for $11.95 and $19.95. Their fans circulate the hot air and give you more heat for your money. Especially good for small rooms.

Versatile. We stopped at 14 Spring the other afternoon to look at the Group Arts exhibit of works by Ray Avery, a young artist whose experiments in various styles and media have produced some interesting pictures.

He has worked through a representational period to some abstract paintings that show considerable thought and talent. The pictures here at Group Arts include early water colors of the Maine coast, with beach shacks, dunes and jetties done with more detail than you usually find in pictures of this sort.

Other water-colors come from Italy where Mr. Avery spent a year as recipient of a scholarship from the Parsons School of Design. We liked especially a watercolor of St. Mark's. Other samples of his work from Italy include facades of churches, a charming group of three statues, and an interior—presumably of a formal Italian parlor.

Most of his abstract work is done in pastels, but there is a sharp linear feeling in most of them. He is showing a little triptych of abstract designs in pastels, each about four by eight inches. Another one is a Dantesque design done on X-ray paper.

All the pictures we have described are for sale—lowest price about $20. Mr. Avery's rewarding interior quarters will be completed by Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Inc. To cost some $75,000 when ready for business, the branch office will offer all banking facilities now available at the Nassau Street building, as well as several new types of services, Mr. Cook announced. An early spring opening is planned.

At Wednesday's meeting of the Board of Directors, Albridge C. Smith, 3d of 62 Hodge Road was elected to fill a vacancy on the board. Mr. Smith, long active in civic and municipal affairs here, is an attorney with offices in Princeton and New York.

High School Must Expand. The borough board of education has re-affirmed plans to build an addition to Princeton High School. Dr. Elizabeth H. Cawley, president, indicated in her annual report at Tuesday night's meeting. Re-arrangement of schedules and facilities has made it possible to teach 1,030 students in a building originally constructed for 800, Mrs. Cawley said, but such a condition is no longer desirable. Classes are somewhat larger than is practical, the curriculum has been curtailed because of lack of space and all aspects of the school's program will soon be vitally affected, if additional space is not provided before the enrollment increases sharply in line with the birth rate of the war and post-war years.

Pupils from the nine districts now sending to Princeton High School should continue to be accepted for the foreseeable future, Mrs. Cawley's report stated. She listed among the primary reasons, all of them beneficial to borough taxpayers:

"A broad educational program is possible only by the presence of tuition students; per pupil costs are lower than if Princeton Borough maintained a high school only for itself; the presence of sending district students over the next years has been guaranteed on the basis of assurances which their boards of education have given us; since these students have nowhere else to go and they in turn are of benefit to our system, termination of their admittance seems to us unjustified."

Mrs. Cawley's report also touched on four upward revisions in the school system's salary scale, made during the past year; the broadening of the French program, which reached down to the fifth grade this year and will be extended down to the third grade next fall; and numerous improvements made to the physical plant during the year.

She noted the personnel changes in the administrative staff: Chester R. Stroup, appointed assistant superintendent of schools, while continuing as Nassau Street School principal; William H. Rhodes, named principal of the high school to succeed Harold A. Odell and Joseph V. Drulis, assistant principal to succeed Mr. Rhodes; Alden G. Lewis, named to fill the newly-created post of college guidance counselor. The president's thanks were extended to other members of the board and to the Princeton Teachers' Association for year-long cooperation.

Pre-Marital Problems. In New York last weekend, a television program failed to take place as planned, but was supplanted by a three-act play involving this community as its focal point.

Act I. Sigmund Welt and Josephine Buono of Brooklyn, scheduled to be married on an NBC television program, were offered an expenses-paid honeymoon in Princeton, N. J. When Sigmund held out for "Florida or California," he and his fiancee wound up in a hassle and the program wound up off the air.

Act III, 5 a.m. next day. After being overheard threatening suicide, Sigmund entered his intended's house through a cellar door, crept up to her bedroom, only to find the sleeping form was that of her father. Josephine, sleeping with her mother, was awakened by the ensuing tussle.

Act III, 10 a.m. Sigmund, hailed before a magistrate on a charge of malicious mischief, was sent to a hospital for mental observation. Curtain line: Sigmund—"Good! I have my own psychiatrist!"

President of Turkey Coming. President and Mrs. Celal Bayar of Turkey will be guests of Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton, for a luncheon and reception Saturday afternoon.

The party of 11 guests, including Turkish Ambassador F. E. Erkin, will attend a luncheon at the Princeton Inn at 1:30. The party will then tour the campus and attend a reception in the Faculty Room of the Firestone

Tribute to Davis

In noting that B. Woodhull Davis, Superintendent of Schools, is completing "25 years of distinguished service in our educational system," Dr. Elizabeth H. Cawley, head of the borough board of education, said in her annual report:

"Vast improvements in the Princeton schools over this period are evidence of his significant leadership. Princeton is fortunate to have at the head of its organization so able an administrator."

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

The comedy hit "Stalag 17" has been booked for the middle of next month as the first of three attractions scheduled in McCarter Theatre, and negotiations for other shows are currently under way, according to Richard M. Skinner, new general manager of the theatre.

"Stalag" will play here Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, February 18-20, with a matinee Saturday. Anna Russell, the British comedienne who excels in satirizing music and musicians, will present her program Monday, March 29. Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers will give three performances on Friday and Saturday, April 23-24, including a Saturday matinee.

The choice of "Stalag" should get the new policy of increased use of McCarter off to a good start. The boisterous drama of American airmen in a German prison camp played 59 weeks on Broadway under the production and direction of Jose Ferrer '33. It has since been made into a fine movie, proved a hit in summer stock and delighted audiences over the country on the recently opened road tour.

The ticket price scale has been set at $3.60, $3, $2.40 and $1.80 for evening performances and $3 to $1.20 for matinees. Mail orders should be sent to the box office and should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Tickets will go on sale for each attraction at the University Store two weeks in advance of each opening.

CHILDREN'S SERIES

"Rapunzel" will be performed on Wednesday, February 10, at 3:30 in McCarter as the second program of the Children's Entertainment Series sponsored by the Borough Elementary Schools PTA. Reservations may be made by calling 0488-W or 1909, and tickets priced at $1.25, 75 cents and 35 cents will be one sale at the box office before the performance.

The touring Children's World Theatre will produce "Rapunzel," marking the fourth year the organization has brought its play to Princeton. The plays are written, produced and acted by adult professionals to fit children's tastes and have been noted in the past for good performances and colorful sets and costumes.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Forever Female (Thurs.-Sat.) does a comedy-drama job on the legitimate theatre. Ginger Rogers plays an ingenue, difficult star, Paul Douglas her ex-director-producer, William Holden a young playwright, and Pat Crowley a lively young actress. The ensuing conflicts are mixed with laughter and performances and direction are good.

Paratrooper (Sun.-Tues.) features Alan Ladd in a lively but not notably original military story. Ladd plays an American ex-officer who has enlisted in the British paratrooper with had memories hanging over him. After the intensive training (well-depicted), and furious battle heroics, everything straightens out. Susan Stephen provides the love interest and the cast also includes Lea Genn and Harry Andrews. Technicolor, filmed in Britain.

Miss Sadie Thompson (Wed.-Mon.) creates the mood it wants; of jungle emotions and behavior, spectacle, sex-charged atmosphere. This is done primarily through the wrigglings of Rita Hayworth and good Technicolor South Sea Island photography. But: while retaining the essential mood for obvious box office reasons, the writers have done enough altering of the Somerset Maugham story to take out most of its original punch. Aldo Ray plays a Marine sergeant sincerely in love with the scarlet lady in question, while Davidson (played by Jose Ferrer) is no longer a minister but a religious fanatic. The acting holds up pretty well, and the overall effect is yellow sensation.

THE GARDEN

Devil's Canyon (Fri.-Sat.) features a grim prison break with much blood-letting. The Technicolor warfare also includes bad feeling between Dale Robertson and assorted Arizona gunmen of 1897. Among others involved in the crossfire is Virginia Mayo (playing a girl outlaw imprisoned with 500 men), Stephen McNally and Robert Keith.

Roman Holiday (Mon.-Wed.) comes here for a well-deserved return showing. It's such a pleasant comedy that nobody cares when the construction cracks in places. As most everyone should know by now, Audrey Hepburn is wonderful as the princess who takes off from official duties for a lark through Rome. Gregory Peck is fine as her newspaper captor-companion-captive, and Eddie Albert gives good comedy support. Location photography is another big asset.

Memorial Library held by the members of the Princeton Program in Near Eastern Studies.

University of Life Program. Plans have been completed for the annual University of Life series sponsored each winter by the Princeton Methodist Church.

The series, which will he held each Wednesday in February in the church's social hall, will feature addresses by Dr. Norman V. Hope, professor at Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Hope, whose lectures are scheduled for 7:20 each Wednesday of the series, will speak on "The History of the Christian Church."

The programs are arranged for all ages with special classes for the younger groups. They are sponsored by the Commission on Education, with the cooperation of the Commission on Social Life, the Women's Society of Christian Service, the Methodist Men and the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

The first of the series Wednesday will open with a covered dish supper at 6. Group singing and instrumental music will be led hy Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stroup. Classes for children, young people and adults and a nursery for children under six will be provided by the Senior Youth Fellowship.

Dr. Schuyler Christian is chairman of the University of Life with assistance from Raymond Welshon. Mrs. Joel Nystrom will lead a class of juniors and intermediate ages in a study of Latin American Missions and Mrs. Milo Wadlin will teach the primary age on World Wide Missions. The Rev. Charles W. Marker is the church's pastor.

A Future for Group Arts? Lack of community support has caused Princeton Group Arts to plan to curtail its program sharply when the current term of workshops ends next week. It is to be hoped, however, that its faithful board of trustees can determine a method of reorganization for this thoroughly worthwhile project and that such action can be taken in time to be effective by next fall.

Formed just after the end of the last war, Group Arts has offered much to Princeton through its varied workshops in craftwork, painting, ceramics, drama and the dance. New to the community, too, but well suited to Princeton's nature, were the outdoor art shows staged twice a year in Palmer Square. A request for Community Chest membership was unsuccessful some years ago, and since that time the problems involved in fund-raising have become increasingly complex.

Group Arts will also give up its 14 Spring Street headquarters and has announced that it must regrettably terminate the services of its executive director, Rex Goreleigh. It will continue to sponsor the old-time film series and other income-producing activities as a source of revenue to meet current indebtedness.

Tavern License Suspended. The liquor license of the Nassau Tavern has been suspended for 15 days starting Monday on a charge of having mis-labeled whiskey on the premises. The penalty was imposed by State Alcoholic Beverage Director Dominic A. Cavicchia.

An ABC agent charged that on September 24 he found a bottle bearing the name of a well-known brand of bourbon whose contents were not genuine. Mr. Cavicchia noted that the Tavern's license was suspended for a similar violation in January 1946. Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., holder of the license, entered a plea of non vult to the charge, thus receiving a reduction of five days from a 20-day sentence.

First Aid Dispatchers Honored. Mrs. Louise C. Traegler and Mrs. Helene L. Coan, who have served as the dispatchers for Princeton's First Aid Unit since its first ambulance was purchased in 1941, were honored for their years of service at the organization's annual banquet.

Mrs. Traegler served as dispatcher from 1941 to 1943 and Mrs. Coan has acted in that position from 1944 to date. They receive calls for the unit, contact members and arrange transportation. On duty 24 hours a day, they were cited for the key roles they have filled for the unit.

Republicans Vote Change. The Princeton Republican Club last week voted a shift in its constitution so that its annual meeting will be held henceforth on the third Tuesday after primary elections. The present slate and executive committee will continue to hold office through May 11, the date chosen this year.

New elections will be held at that time. The change in the constitution was made so that the club's practice will conform to that of the county and state GOP organizations.

Bamberger Manager Named. The appointment of Lloyd Bowman as manager of the Bamberger's department store in the Princeton Shopping Center has been announced by John C. Williams, president of L. Bamberger and Co. The Princeton unit is scheduled to open this spring.

Mr. Bowman has been active in suburban store management for the R. H. Macy Co. since 1945 and has had 18 years of retail experience. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with the class of 1927, married, and is currently a resident of Jersey City.

Valley School Program Advances. The Industrial Arts Department of the Valley Road School is now in the third year of its new diversified program, developed under Donald C. Thiel. The program affects all boys in grades five through eight and girls in the seventh and eighth grades.

With safety receiving major stress, the students receive instruction in the making of wood and metal articles with hand and power tools. Eighth grade pupils in home mechanics are encouraged to bring in broken articles from home and to repair and refinish them.

Objects of the school's diversified Industrial Arts program include creative ability, appreciation for workmanship and design, safe working habits, hand skills and practical experience with both hand and power tools.

Robbins in Scout Post. Thomas Robbins of 33 Jefferson Road has been appointed chairman of the annual membership campaign scheduled to take place during Boy Scout Week, February 7-13, in the Stony Brook district. The campaign will cover Princeton, Cranbury, Hightstown and Allentown.

Mr. Robbins has been a resident of Princeton since 1941 and is a construction engineer for the Kingston Trap Rock Co. He has been active for six years on the committee for Scout Troop 88, sponsored by the Princeton Methodist Church.

P.T.A. to Meet. Mrs. Helen F. Southard, author, lecturer, and expert on family relations for the National Board of the Y.W.C.A., will speak on "Teen-agers and Parents: How to Live Together" at the Princeton Elementary Schools P.T.A. meeting Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the Quarry Street School auditorium.

A graduate of the University of Buffalo, Mrs. Southard has had wide experience as an adviser on personal problems and as a personnel consultant in Buffalo, N. Y. More recently she has been participating in the community activities of Arlington, Va., including holding the presidency of the city's P.T.A.

Women's Guild to Meet. Dr. A. Edwin Harper, Jr., Presbyterian missionary in India and a resident of Princeton, will address the Women's Guild of the Second Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the church's Social Room.

Dr. Harper, who will speak on India, has just completed his first term as missionary in that country and is at present engaged in a work-study program at the Educational Testing Service here. Upon returning to India, he will assist in developing a test construction center at the Indian Statistical Institute at Calcutta.

College Club Program. Dr. Samuel Garber, Superintendent of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, will address the Women's College Club of Princeton Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Avalon. His subject will be "The New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, Changes and Plans for Development."

The hostess-in-charge will be Mrs. Arthur A. Blue, assisted by Mrs. Walter F. Fullam, Mrs. George A. Graham, Mrs. Thomas S. Harvey, Mrs. Karl Eric Hoffman, Mrs. Richard E. Honig and Mrs. John E. Servis.

Gray Ladies Needed. The Red Cross chapter is asking for volunteers to serve as Gray Ladies at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman. Women over 21 are eligible for the 12-hour indoctrination course given by doctors on the institute's staff.

A wide variety of opportunities for being of service to patients at Skillman exists, the Red Cross points out, with full details available at its University Place headquarters (2404) or through Mrs. H. C. Classen (2381.) The chapter has also issued a call for previously-trained Gray Ladies to serve at Fort Dix.

Miscellany. Daughters have been born to Mr. and Mrs. David Blake, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Petras, Carter Road; Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Anderson, 3 Snowden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Messick, 217-B King Street; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Di Meglio, 82½ Leigh Avenue; sons to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Crosby, Plainsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, 25 Clay Street.

The Public Library's Book Discussion Group will hold a poetry reading, open to the public, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the library. Recorded rendings by modern poets of their own works will be heard, with the program replacing the group's regular meeting.

Gabriel Royster of Mercer Road paid $60 Tuesday following charges of reckless driving and disorderly conduct. Disorderly conduct while intoxicated brought Samuel Johnson, 248 John Street, a 15-day jail term.

Obituaries

Mrs. Anna T. Stonaker of 11 Charlton Street died January 20 in Princeton Hospital. Born in New Brunswick, she was a member of the Rosary Society of St. Paul's Church.

Widow of Joseph H. Stonaker, she is survived by a daughter, Miss Ann Stonaker; three sons, Joseph and John of Princeton; William of Hopewell; and six grandchildren. The service at the Kumb. Funeral Home was followed by solemn requiem mass at St. Paul's Church and burial in the parish cemetery.

Answer a desperate call for HELP!

it doesn't cost you anything to give BLOOD!

PRINCETON'S BLOOD DONOR SERVICE which supplies whole blood to every Princeton Hospital patient in need has a most unusual set-up. As far as we know, in very few hospitals is whole blood supplied absolutely free*. If you think you could afford to buy blood—and it's expensive to buy—remember that in a real emergency there is often no time to shop!

THIS EMERGENCY APPEAL comes to you from the Princeton Red Cross. We service your blood bank. We keep the files of registered donors, by types. We make the thousands of phone calls which locate the donor with the right blood type at the right time. We even arrange free transportation for blood donors when necessary. We staff our Blood Service twenty-four hours a day, three hundred and sixty-five days a year, and have done this since December, 1949.

Then the hospital used about fifteen pints a month. Today the hospital often needs more than a hundred pints a month. This is because whole blood is being used more and more for therapeutic reasons (which often shorten hospital stays) and because of the increased surgical services in our hospital. And the hospital is growing—soon its bed capacity will have increased from 90 to 140 beds!

These Princeton Business Firms Wish To Enlist Your Assistance In Responding To This Unusually Important Appeal:

because of the increased surgical services in our hospital. And the hospital is growing—soon its bed capacity will have increased from 90 to 140 beds!

In our present donor files we have some donors with certain blood types who must be called over and over again to supply the blood we need. If we do not find more donors, and find them AT ONCE—this magnificent community service will fail. It will fail our hospital, fail our doctors and fail—who knows—perhaps you, yourself. If you are between the ages of 18 and 65, plan to give blood. Don't delay—take step one today!

STEP ONE — Telephone the Princeton Red Cross, Princeton 1-2404 today! Make an appointment to have your blood typed. A convenient time will be set. Transportation will be provided if you wish.

STEP TWO — keep that appointment! Go to the Princeton Hospital. There you will have the brief but thorough physical examination (absolutely free to you too!) necessary to make certain that you can be a blood donor. At this time you do not give blood.

STEP THREE — when the Red Cross calls you to give blood —go if you possibly can. Someone, perhaps a good friend!— is waiting in the hospital for your blood and needs your particular blood type. Otherwise you would not be called. Some people with rare blood types may not be called for years. But we must have their records in our files—and have them as donors, ready and willing to go when they are needed. The Red Cross tries not to call any donor more than once every six months . . . . but it is safe to give more often than that. Today the Red Cross often must make fifteen calls to collect one pint of blood—and many times one patient will need six or more pints!

STEP FOUR — tell all your friends about the desperate needs of our Blood Service. If they have not yet taken Step One themselves—ask them to do so, right away. Tell them too, that the Defense Department's Bloodmobiles that visited Princeton in the past have been discontinued in this area. The blood they collected went to the gamma globulin program and to the Armed Services plasma program. This needed blood is now being adequately supplied by larger Red Cross Centers elsewhere.

* In our hospital, as in every hospital, the patient who receives blood is charged a small fee for the laboratory work necessary to every transfusion. But, and make no mistake about this, the blood itself is free. In the Princeton Hospital no blood is for sale.

 Donors under 21 must bring a parent's written permission to give blood. If you are between 18 and 21, take it when you go to have your blood typed.

exhibit will continue through February 6.

Every-day. The skirts and blouses at Harris' Department Store, 32 Witherspoon, are well-designed for every-day, in-and-out-wear in spite of their low prices. Skirts in large sizes—not always easy to run down when you need one. These at Harris' are size 38, in a tailored gabardine with pocket on each hip. The skirt is only $3.95 and comes in grey, toast and black.

The dear old favorite denim wrap-around skirt shows itself in new colors at Harris. We saw it in a deep olive-green, a warm rust red and a blue that's brighter than faded-denim blue but not so deep as a navy. These are $3.95, too.

Another denim skirt describes a full circle. It's striped, black with grey or black with deep rose, in narrow, narrow, stripes. "Pepperell Dude Denim," it's called, and it's much heavier in weight than the denim you've seen before. A wide elasticized black band tops it all for $5.95.

A circle of India print makes another skirt, this one in a lighter-weight cotton. Hanging beside it, a skirt that's up in the treetops: tree branches and green leaves all over. Both these designs are $3.95.

Short or no—that's the sleeve story. One short-sleeved blouse we saw has roosters and something that looks like hen-tracks or runic rhymes—we aren't sure which. Sleeveless blouses have prints that look like giraffes, but could be anything. Stripes in the sleeveless line, too. These blouses are $2.95.

A white blouse has a clean-looking design, small and far-spaced, in navy and red, or black and gold.

Poor Shrimp. A Shrimp-Master is not a man who goads shrimps, but a tool that cleans and shells them. It looks exactly like an ant-eater in a zoo, and its long snout slips under the shrimp's shell, deveins him, and deposits him, clean and without viscera, into the pot for cooking. You can buy one for $2.50 at The Flower Basket, 136 Nassau.

A Coffee Hottle is a hot coffee bottle—what else? For $4 you get two opaque white glass bottles, each shaped like a carafe. You set one into your coffee cup, pour the hot coffee into the Hottle and stop it with a cork. To drink, remove the cork and lift the whole thing by the handle of your cup. Keeps coffee hot, long as the cork is in.

If you want to keep wine cool, rather than coffee hot, buy a green glass wine cooler, raffia wrapped, with a glass compartment inside that holds the ice. You put the ice in by a separate opening and the wine is not diluted thereby. For $3.

A plastic apron hoop for 79c is all you need to make an apron from one yard of fabric. Make a hem for the hoop to slide through and you're done. The hoop grabs around the waist and hold the apron on—fits any size in the world.

Sports in Princeton

Quiet Time. Action all along the sports front has largely been supplanted by academic activity in the past fortnight. Pentagonal League hockey play has closed down entirely during the exam period, with no games scheduled until Saturday, February 6, when Princeton goes to Brown and Harvard travels to Hanover.

The Tiger basketball team moved out of a three-way tie for fifth place into a two-way deadlock with Yale and Dartmouth dropped the Eastern League's only game to Penn. The Quakers are 4-1 behind Cornell's 5-0 and will be at Ithaca on February 6 for the first of two big games with the Red.

Games Next Week. A couple of non-league games will send the Orange and Black into action again early next week. The skaters take on little American International College of Springfield, Mass., Monday at 2 in Baker Rink. The team has a 2-8-1 merk and an odd record of playing better hockey against tougher opposition than against teams with which it is more less evenly matched.

Temple's basketball quintet will visit Dillon Gym Tuesday night at 8, with Cappy Cappon's five hoping to draw even with the .500 mark by the week's end. A New England trip to Providence and Hanover is set for Friday and Saturday, and will determine whether the Tigers can still make a bid for a top berth in the circuit. Their record-breaking 106-66 performance against the Bruins here should get them by in the return contest with something to spare, but Dartmouth will not be easy to trim at home.

Single Wing at Penn? Pennsylvania finally took a major step toward unraveling its football situation with the appointment of Steve Sebo, Michigan State backfield coach, to succeed George Munger. Sebo won't get a look at his squad in action until after Labor Day but he'll have Munger on hand for plenty of assistance, since the latter stays at Penn as director of physical education.

Sebo is not new to Ivy League football, having served at Harvard in the late forties as backfield coach under Art Valpey. Since he taught at Michigan State, where Biggie Munn used both the single wing and the T, it is possible that he will follow the same procedure. Munger was essentially single wing but often switched to the T at strategic intervals.

High School Splits. Princeton High School's basketball team broke even last week, losing to Ewing Township on the latter's court, 63-46, and then topping Bordentown Military with ease here Friday, 81 to 53. Bob Montgomery and Marv Trottman were the big guns in each contest, but their usually high output was pared in the Ewing Township game to 14 and 13, respectively.

Against B.M.I., Trottman hit for 23 and Montgomery for 15, the Little Tigers making a runaway of the affair after a close first period. Bill Rodefeld joined Montgomery with 15 points to add to the Blue and White's scoring punch.

Tuesday's game dropped the Blue and White below the .500 mark for the season when Bound Brook took a 69-65 decision on its court to peg the losers' record at 4-5. Marv Trottman racked up 28 points but could convert only six of 21 free throws. PHS could not hold the 53-50 lead with which it entered the final period.

Hun Loses Two. Hun's still inexperienced quintet lost a pair to Bryn Athyn last week. On the latter's court, it was 64-31; here on Saturday, it was 54-34. Jim Lavan was high with 19 in the first of these two games, but was held to 11 in the return contest. Wayne Anderson paced the Red and Black with a dozen.

The Hun reserves won both their games against their Pennsylvania opponents, winning the first 27-17 and the second, 36-16. Bill Pearson of Princeton played well for the victors on each occasion. Stevens Academy will furnish the opposition this Friday afternoon.
